County put in 'an impossible situation' over move to Tier 3

Report by Tom Martin

WEST Lancashire Council leaders claim they were forced into an "impossible situation" after agreeing to move into 'tier 3' of the new Covid-19 alert system.

Only five days after the new three-tiered measure was announced, Lancashire was added to the top level of coronavirus restrictions after a deal was reached with the government for a £42million support package for the county.

West Lancashire Borough Council leader Ian Moran has hit out at the government for "failing to manage this crisis" while West Lancs MP Rosie Cooper has labelled the situation a "fiasco" saying the government "haven't thought about or planned fully for the consequences" on residents and businesses.

The new rules for Lancashire differ from the neighbouring Liverpool City Region, which is also in tier 3 because gyms and leisure centres have been allowed to stay open.

In Lancashire, pubs and bars have closed and residents are only allowed to socialise with people they live with or those in their social bubble in any indoor setting or private garden or at most outdoor hospitality venues and ticketed events.

Also closed are licensed clubs, adult gaming centres, bingo halls, casinos, bookmakers and betting shops, children's soft playcentres and car boot sales.

West Lancashire Borough Council Leader Ian Moran said: "Reluctantly I have been forced to put West Lancashire into Tier 3 for a four-week period."

PLAY CENTRES GIVE A BIG THUMBS DOWN TO 'UNFAIR' CLOSURE RULE

Owners' dismay at being told to shut while those in neighbouring Tier 3 area are allowed to stay open

Report by Tom Martin

OWNERS of children's soft play centres in West Lancashire are devastated after being forced to close after 'Tier 3' restrictions were imposed on the county.

They say it is unfair as similar facilities are being allowed to stay open in the Liverpool City Region and claim it will affect local children's health and wellbeing.

They say it will especially affect local parents who are desperately trying to find safe activities for their children to enjoy during the pandemic.

Alice Moorcroft and Samantha Lee, who are the owners of JJ's Jungle, in Malthouse Business Centre, Ormskirk, said they have been left "utterly heartbroken" by being forced to close.

It read: "We are utterly heartbroken following the

Alice Moorcroft and Samantha Lee, owners of JJ's Jungle government's announcement on Lancashire's restrictions.

"We've worked so hard to keep JJ's going and thank every single person who has visited, commented or supported us.

"It seems very unfair and we're concerned for the children who will be missing out and their wellbeing."

There were similar feelings at Brew and Buddies Play and Learn Centre, in Merlin Business Park, in Burscough.

They said: "I can't believe I'm having to write this, but we will have to close."

"Some of our nearby play centres won't have to but because we are in Lancashire, we have to close."

"I have no idea what this means for the future of Brew and Buddies. Things had already become very scary, so this is knocking me sideways. We have been open for ten months, and seven of those have been during a pandemic."

The Tier 3 restrictions will be reviewed every four weeks, and some are remaining hopeful that the government will allow play centres to reopen next month.

A social media post from The Jungle Hut, on Westgate, Skelmersdale said: "Unfortunately after this we will be having to take a break starting from Monday, October 19 until Thursday, November 19 due to local tier 3 restrictions."

"We will miss you and thank all our lovely customers for their support the past couple of weeks that we have been open."

Residents urged to report blocked drains or gullies to council to prevent floods

Report by Danielle Thompson

RESIDENTS across West Lancashire – especially those in flooding hotspots – are being urged to report blocked drains and gullies to Lancashire County Council.

With increasingly frequent flooding incidents, West Lincs MP Rosie Cooper has been acting upon residents' concerns about blockages and the lack of cleansing carried out in certain locations.

The Champion reported in August how flash floods caused misery for local residents and farmers with flooded homes in Tarleton and Hesketh Bank.

In correspondence with LCC, it was confirmed to Rosie Cooper MP that routine gully cleansing no longer takes place across all areas.

Priority ordering now means some gullies are cleansed on a 12 or 24 month routine, with many only on a response service.

MP Cooper said: "Lancashire County Council have confirmed to me that they now clear drains less often than they used to, and for many they don't even check them now unless residents request them to do so.

"While I am wholly dissatisfied that this is an acceptable form of gully and drain maintenance, I am encouraging residents to report each and every time they see a blocked gully to ensure that LCC respond, investigate and clear.

"Reports can be made to Lancashire County Council's Highways Department by phone on 0300 123 6780 or online through the 'Report It' service at <https://www.lancashire.gov.uk/roads-parking-and-travel/report-it/>

"Regular reports of specific gullies can then lead to them being added to LCC's routine schedule."

Rob Wilson, area highways manager for Lancashire County Council, said: "The main cause of the surface water flooding which has affected West Lancashire over recent months is heavy and sustained rainfall which local drainage networks were never designed to cope with, but which are becoming part of our new normal as the UK climate changes.

A flooded field and road during heavy rainfall in August in Hesketh Bank

"This is not usually caused by blocked gullies, but instead because the historic drainage systems do not have the capacity to handle such large volumes of water in such a short time. At the same time we often need to clear highway drains afterwards as the flood waters carry debris into them.

"The way we resource our routine gully clearance operations is based on the data we have collected over many years about the risk of each one becoming blocked.

"We prioritise those which are more prone to becoming blocked and clean these once a year as part of our regular cycle, however those in vulnerable locations may be cleaned more often if necessary.

"We also clean some gullies every two years, and others which only very rarely become blocked on a reactive basis. This ensures efficient use of our resources and that we focus on protecting those locations which are most vulnerable to flooding."

Outdoor market aims to boost local businesses

Independent and small retailers will be able to show off their products in a safe environment

Report by Tom Martin

AN entrepreneur from Burscough is hoping to bring some much-needed positivity to the town by holding an outdoor artisan and craft market.

Ailsa Mills, who has set-up her own soap and bath bomb business called Soap Delight, wants to bring the community together to enjoy some local stalls and activities in a safe environment.

This will be the third market she has organised and the most recent event attracted around 150 people across the day.

During a time when locals may be feeling concerned about going out to shops, Ailsa wants to support independent and local stores by offering them a place to show off their businesses.

Some of the stalls will include a cheese counter, woodwork and pottery, sweets and pies as well as arts and crafts for children.

There will be hand sanitisers at every stall, a one way system is in place and those in attendance are asked to wear face coverings.

It will be held on Sunday, October 25 on Crabtree Lane, near the Slipway Pub between 10am and 3.30pm.

Ailsa said: "I started this market as a small business owner who wanted to bring the community together and help to support the small independent businesses in the area at this difficult time.

"A lot of small businesses have suffered the past few months, myself included, and I just feel so awful for people who are working their hardest to create wonderful and inspiring craft work, who now don't have an outlook to help their business and sell their hand made products.

"The market follows all the current Covid guidelines; public are invited to wear a face covering/shield and follow the guidelines, as well as use the hand sanitisers at the stations provided. Last month, we applied a one-way system around the market which we will be using again.

"Currently there are 15 stalls booked on to this month's market ranging from pottery and woodwork, to handmade cards, gifts, and other goodies.

"It's a really lovely location next to the canal so people can come to enjoy the market and then maybe have a walk or a coffee."

Baby chapel of rest opens to support bereaved parents

Former funeral director hopes it will help families whose infants have died too soon

Report by Danielle Thompson

A WOMAN whose best friend tragically lost her baby girl five years ago has raised funds to open a special baby chapel of rest in Ormskirk.

Ragan Galley, 37, from Southport, has worked in the funeral industry for more than 11 years in various roles across West Lancashire and is now a funeral service manager for Co-op Funeralcare in Southport.

To mark the recent Baby Loss Awareness Week, the mother of two announced the opening of the special baby chapel of rest, the Dove Chapel, based at Co-op Funeralcare on Wigan Road.

Over the past six months, Ragan has worked tirelessly to establish the chapel, appealing to national and international infant loss charities for their support and donations.

She hopes it will offer a comfortable and private environment for grieving parents in the region.

Five years ago, Ragan's best friend tragically lost her baby girl at six weeks old who Ragan was god-mother to.

Ragan said: "Every death is heart-breaking, but even more so for families whose infants are taken far too soon."

"I was a funeral director for six years, and helping bereaved parents was the part of the job that I was most proud of. Being there at people's greatest time of need is incredibly humbling."

"I wanted to set up a dedicated chapel of rest for families whose babies have died. Supporting bereaved parents is something that I am deeply passionate about. Death is a very difficult subject to talk about, the death of a baby or infant even more so. I truly believe that we need to be more open and have discussions about baby deaths, which will only help to ensure that the right bereavement care exists for those that need it."

Ragan Galley has worked hard to establish the chapel, raising funds from charities.

She said: "I've been blown away by the amount of support and well wishes I've received from complete strangers, and received the most incredibly kind donations for the chapel, including a beautiful rocking crib and books to help parents who are experiencing the loss of a baby."

Petition launched to fix flooded subways

Pedestrians being forced to walk on busy roads after heavy rain

Report by Tom Martin

RESIDENTS in Skelmersdale who are fed up with subways in the town being flooded have started a petition to Lancashire County Council calling on them to install better drainage systems.

More than 500 have already backed the online petition, which aims to “finally sort out” the flooding issue with local subways every time there is heavy rain.

Two of the most badly affected subways are in Tanhouse and Ashurst, with one resident claiming he has seen children swimming in the dirty water.

The person who created the petition, James

Upjohn, said: “Skelmersdale was originally built with a network of subways to ensure that residents didn’t need to walk onto busy roads. Because of this many roads in Skelmersdale don’t have pavements.

“Unfortunately our drainage system fails regularly and after heavy rain the subways are often left unusable.

“This forces pedestrians to have to walk in the road, putting themselves in danger of traffic.

“Local children have even been seen swimming in some of these flooded subways and that’s just not acceptable.

“This is a recurring problem and temporary fixes are not the solution to this problem that has plagued the town for years.”

Local resident Mark Bainbridge added: “This issue needs sorting, it’s been like this for years. Walking on our roads is not safe and it’s time that we had this issue fixed!”

MP hits out at ‘fiasco’ of government handling of Covid-19 restrictions manage this crisis and failed the people of West Lancashire.

“Talks have been ongoing for days to secure a financial support package to be able to support our vulnerable and shielding residents and the impact on local businesses, job losses and loss of income for workers.

“We have been placed in an impossible situation of deciding between the numbers of lives affected and lost in either scenario.

“Our COVID numbers are rising day by day and we must do something to address this, but we must protect our local economy, the long term mental health of our workforce and residents along with the risks of poverty that could come through job losses.

“The money we have secured we argue must be provided immediately to enable the council to support our most vulnerable residents, and the businesses and workers directly impacted upon.”

According to data, in the week October 7-13, there were 470 cases per 100,000 in West Lancashire, compared to the national average of 95.

It brought the total number of cases, recorded on October 16, to 2,189.

MP Rosie Cooper said: “While the restrictions are welcome in terms of reducing contact to bring down the spread of the virus, what is not welcome is the manner in which this whole fiasco has been handled, and the complete lack of resource being provided to support the restrictions.

“Residents and businesses have been left in limbo all week with Government leaks indicating what might happen, but no decisions made upon which to plan.

“I am still unclear on what financial support is coming to West Lancashire to support the new restrictions, have the council been given extra funding to start the food hubs again? Have the police been given extra resource or powers to enforce the measures?

“As with many decisions being made by Government, they haven’t thought about or planned fully for the consequences.”

Leader of Lancashire County Council, Geoff Driver, who is a Conservative, claims the deal is “bespoke” for the county and is a result of “constructive and meaningful discussions” with Lancashire leaders.

He added: “The deal has presented real challenges for some and they have only been able to sign up with reluctance, but we have been willing to work across party lines so that we can hammer this out with government.

“These new restrictions will affect us all, but we know they will be particularly harsh on those who make their living in our hospitality sector. It is a vital and valued part of our economy and we are all committed to maximising the support we can give as a result of this deal.”

Vulnerable residents in West Lancashire who have no other support in place from their household, support bubble or neighbours and who may need additional support to arrange online shopping or prescription deliveries can contact West Lancs Together on the free helpline 0800 616 667, Monday to Friday 9am-5pm.

A FORMER biscuit maker has celebrated her special 101st birthday with a ‘nice’ party!

Tough cookie Margaret Rose, nee Bowen, who used to work for Fox’s Biscuits, celebrated her big day with cupcakes for other residents at Arranmore Park Rest Home in Burscough.

A spokesperson for the home said: “Margaret’s 101st birthday on October 4 was another major milestone accomplished by an extraordinary lady who was born, bred and grown-up in Lancashire. She is the last surviving member of her family’s generation.

“She has not allowed the pandemic to slow her down when going for meals!

“She continues to maintain a positive attitude and is enthusiastic in her interaction with fellow residents and staff. “With the on going ‘lockdown’, Margaret was able to share her birthday cupcakes from The Burscough Cake Company with everyone in the care home.

“Family and friends have not been able to talk to her in person, but the staff arranged ‘through the window’ greetings, with video calls to her son John, her daughter in law Chrissie and the family.

“When asked what the secret was to reaching 101, Margaret said that she is ‘still loving life’ and laughed. To us here at Arranmore, she is a true diamond.”

Women who 'have worked tirelessly for community' honoured by the Queen

Both were nominated by council for their passion in supporting vulnerable people in the borough

Report by Danielle Thompson

TWO 'community leaders' from West Lancashire have been named in the Queen's Birthday Honours List.

Stella Connell has been given a British Empire Medal (BEM) for her outstanding work with homeless and vulnerable people in West Lancashire as chief executive of the Birchwood Centre.

Margaret Highton has been awarded a British Empire Medal (BEM) for her voluntary work with organisations tackling issues such as hunger, financial inclusion, road safety and housing. This includes her role as director of Evermore Community Hub in Skelmersdale.

They have both worked tirelessly for their communities for many years and continue to be extremely busy supporting people during the coronavirus pandemic.

Councillor Ian Moran, Leader of West Lancashire Borough Council, said: "The council has worked closely with Stella and Margaret for many years and their work has been vital during the ongoing pandemic."

"We felt really passionate about their

Stella Connell

great work so we put in our nominations and are absolutely delighted to hear they have been given these well-deserved honours. Congratulations to them both."

MP Rosie Cooper added: "It is fantastic to see that the work of Evermore Hub and The Birchwood Centre, their workers, volunteers and their own personal tireless efforts, is recognised through these Honours."

"Having worked with both Margaret and Stella for the past fifteen years, I know just how passionate they are about supporting the local community and particularly vulnerable people in Skelmersdale and West Lancashire."

"The work of both organisations through the pandemic crisis and lockdown has been inspirational ensuring local residents and families had access to food through their foodbanks and their work with the council."

Surgery manages to hit breast screening targets despite Covid-19 delays

Report by Tom Martin

AN Ormskirk surgery is celebrating after meeting their national breast screening targets, despite Covid-19 restrictions being in place.

In just six months, the practice achieved the 70% uptake following a pause in breast screening in March, which was then resumed in July.

Sandra Guppy, practice manager at the Aughton Surgery, said: "We were thrilled with the amount of women who have attended their breast screening appointments during this pandemic."

"Some women were a little concerned about attending due to Covid-19 but once they had been re-assured that restrictions were in place during the examination they were happy to attend. This is an amazing result for our patients here at Aughton Surgery."

All possible precautions, in line with government advice, were put in place at the surgery including cleaning of equipment after each patient, staff wearing full PPE and both staff and patients adhering to social distancing measures.

Janet Ellison, patient navigator for the South Lancashire Breast Screening Unit said: "To achieve the national target of 70% uptake of breast screening examinations is an incredible result for eligible women from the Aughton Surgery."

"The Covid-19 pandemic has been a challenging period for all NHS services but, with the help of our staff, we have been able to restore confidence and support some patients who were a little anxious of attending their appointments."

Breast screening resumed services in July with full Covid-19 restrictions in place to protect patients and staff.

Residents warned about 'coronavirus conmen'

LANCASHIRE'S trading standards experts are warning people to beware of coronavirus conmen, phone fraudsters and dodgy drive repair firms following the latest scam reports.

People should always be suspicious of anyone calling and claiming to be from the council and should ask for ID and check with the council if not expecting a visit.

County Councillor Albert Atkinson, cabinet member for technical services, rural affairs and waste management, said: "It's amazing what lengths these doorstep traders will go to."

"They come out with clever cover stories to get their hands on people's money and as the case of the Covid disinfectant fraudster scam shows, they are relentless in their efforts, sometimes coming back time and time again until they get what they want."

"Always say no to cold callers, use local known traders and use recommendation services like our Lancashire Safe Trader Scheme."

"Remember if you agree to the contract in your own home, you will, in most cases, have 14 days to cancel."

There have also been a number of phone scam reports.

Anyone who has received a call regarding support from Age UK Lancashire that they have not requested, should call the customer services team at Age UK Lancashire on 0300 3031234.

County Councillor Atkinson added: "Be wary of anyone calling purporting to be from HMRC, any government department or even organisations like Age UK."

"Bogus callers can pose as representatives from genuine organisations. If you are suspicious, trading standards advice is never to provide any personal information and to hang up straight away."

"Check on official websites for the genuine contact details for these organisations."

To report any scams or rogue traders, contact Lancashire Trading Standards via the Citizens Advice Consumer Helpline on 0808 223 1133.

Edge Hill University wins national award for beauty of its campus

EDGE Hill University was lit up green for a day last week to celebrate winning a national award for the beauty of its campus and the benefits it provides to the community.

The university won a Green Flag Award, along with Coronation Park in Ormskirk and Beacon Country Park in Up Holland.

The Green Flag Award scheme is managed by environmental charity Keep Britain Tidy and recognises well-managed parks and green spaces across the UK.

Edge Hill bosses thanked the facilities management team for "working hard in all weathers and throughout the pandemic to maintain the campus grounds to the highest standard."

West Lancashire Council portfolio holder for Leisure, Councillor Yvonne Gagen, said: "This is wonderful news. We know access to green space is important to our communities and have provided space for residents to exercise and socialise responsibly and to reflect during the pandemic."

Part of the Edge Hill University campus, and inset, the main building lit up green.

"We are also working hard to protect and invest in our green leisure spaces so we can see more awards for West Lancashire in future years."

Edge Hill University grounds manager Neil Toner said: "It's all about pride. The whole maintenance team take immense pride in creating spaces where people can take a few minutes out of their day to sit and relax in a stunning natural environment."

"I'd like to thank every member of staff for their contribution to winning this award."

Plans to build 130 houses and apartments in Lathom

PLANS have been revealed to build 130 houses and apartments on a large field in Lathom.

The proposal, by Wainhomes, is to carry out the development on a large patch of land on Firwood Road, between Slate Lane and Old Engine Lane.

The planning application was submitted to West Lancashire Borough Council earlier this month and a decision is yet to be made.

The site contains an historic powder hut, which is a 19th century decommissioned explosives store for the Lathom Colliery, which will remain as part of the plans.

As well as the houses and block of apartments, there will also be a 'public open space' and a pond.

The planning application states: "The majority of the dwellings would be a mix of two, three and four bedroomed terraced, semi-detached and detached houses.

"There would also be 18 two-bed apartments and 26 of the units would be designed for the elderly."

"The proposed layout includes the retention of the historic powder hut set in an area of public open space, the provision of a local area of play and a pond along the eastern boundary."

Clarification for former soldier Graham McKenna

AN article in last week's Champion stated that former soldier Graham McKenna, from Skelmersdale who raised £6,000 for a mental health charity by taking part in a marathon treadmill challenge, had served in Afghanistan and Iraq and suffers from Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD).

We have since been informed that Mr McKenna does not suffer from PTSD and did not complete a tour in Iraq during his time with the armed forces.

We are happy to clarify this.

MP: We are still on track to secure funds for restoration of Burscough Curves railway

Report by Danielle Thompson

A CROSS-party effort to restore the Burscough Curves claim their plans to secure funding is still on track and they remain optimistic.

Local MPs, council leaders and businesses submitted a proposal to the government to restore the Burscough Curves, which were axed during the infamous Beeching Cuts during the 1960s.

Before the Beeching Cuts, the Ormskirk and Preston, and Southport and Manchester lines were joined at Burscough, enabling direct travel between Ormskirk and Southport, and Southport and Preston.

Now Southport MP Damien Moore, West Lancashire MP Rosie Cooper, South Ribble Conservative MP Katherine Fletcher, Lancashire County Council Leader Geoff Driver and others are campaigning to recreate a 'relatively low cost rail project that would restore flexibility for passengers and add valuable options to direct travel across West Lancashire.'

They are calling for unity after Sefton Council Liberal Democrat Leader Cllr John Pugh claimed that "the odds currently are not in our favour."

Southport MP Damien Moore said: "We're working hard to secure funding and ensure the restoration of the Burscough Curves. We have a very strong team of regional MPs and council leaders together backing this project, and I really believe we can get something done. This is a real cross-party effort and we need unity of spirit and unity of purpose."

"Together we have put together and submitted a very strong business case which I am confident will tick all of the boxes in terms of the viability of the scheme, its environmental impact and much more besides."

"Restoring the Burscough Curves will dramatically improve rail connections not just between places such as Southport, Preston and Ormskirk but further beyond, up to Scotland."

West Lancashire MP Rosie Cooper added: "Reinstating the Burscough Curves would transform rail travel across West Lancashire providing new links for rural communities like Scarisbrick as well as Burscough itself.

"Following the sizeable increase in housing in Burscough, re-connecting the Preston to Ormskirk branch with the Merseyrail network at Ormskirk will increase the attractiveness of rail for commuters into Liverpool, reducing the need to travel on the heavily congested A59."

"More frequent services to Preston will do likewise and benefit commuters from Ormskirk and Aughton also. It is disappointing to hear the views of the former Southport MP, which in itself may have caused damage to the prospects of the scheme, something Damien and I along with others are now actively working to repair."

Lancashire County Council Leader Cllr Geoff Driver said: "We understand and recognise the steps we have to go through and the hurdles we have to overcome to see the Burscough Curves reopening become a reality. Our officers have immense experience in dealing with such matters and, with the greatest respect, it is a bit rich on the part of Councillor Pugh to belittle the sterling work being done by the County and District councils as well as the cross party support from local MPs, when he failed to bring this venture to fruition when he was an MP."

Students should be made to respect residents of the town

If we lived near Heathrow or Manchester or any other airport in the land we would be eligible for compensation and a grant towards better double glazing to block out the noise from air traffic.

We live near a university with an excess of intolerable noise and have no help from any agency to give us the quality of life any person should expect.

Ormskirk is like a small village all summer and then the invasion begins every September.

The students use our health services, policing, refuse collection and street cleaning but they pay nothing towards it.

People who have lived in Ormskirk for years want to move out from their beloved town due to lack of sleep and amenities.

The rubbish is unacceptable, the ambulances are pushed to capacity through drink related calls.

Every year we are promised that the university will control their students, every year we are let down!

The students continue to behave badly while they are guests in our town.

How difficult is it to enjoy your sudden freedom from parental control whilst still respecting your neighbours?

Enjoy yourselves by all means, but don't put your lives in jeopardy or your neighbours in a state of misery, sleeplessness and anxiety.

Pick up your litter or place it in the numerous bins, go for a drink but go home quietly.

Please let's all live in harmony and tranquility.

Complete pavement parking ban needed

Contrary to the letter regarding pavement parking, there are not enough laws already to tackle pavement parking.

What is required is a complete ban on pavement parking.

Two years ago an MP used Private Members Bill to ban the practice but withdrew it because the government advised that they intended to introduce such a bill themselves.

Now the matter is open for consultation.

I fail to see what needs to be consulted all we need is a complete ban.

I am afraid that will result in a fudge because the government does not want to upset motorists.

Pavements are for pedestrians and roads are for motorcars.

Motorists who live in narrow streets should purchase narrower cars and definitely not 4x4s or use public transport or scooters.

Mask wearing not enforced

Why is it that you can walk around the main concourse in Skelmersdale without wearing a mask and there are no staff on the entrances to give out hand gel and tell people to wear masks at all times.

And then with all of the security cameras they do nothing when spotting people who are not wearing masks as they have security walking around but not stopping them and either asking them to wear a mask if possible or leave the shopping area?

Name supplied,
By email

But not everyone can wear them...

I would like to reply to the letters published in the Champion about people not wearing face masks, stating that we are a shame to the nation.

I, as well as my mother, are medically exempt from wearing face masks which makes us more vulnerable.

When I am queuing at tills I have noticed there is no social distancing, I would like to buy my essentials and not feel at risk.

Not everyone can wear face masks.

Sharon,
Newburgh

Heart rendering drama of an amazing mother duck!

I thought I would tell you about a little heart rendering drama that occurred in Dyers Lane, Ormskirk on October 6 and 7.

On my daily evening walk I saw a white mother duck stranded on a bit of an island with her agitated duckling.

The water was very high and flowing very fast and the bricked sides made it impossible to help.

My fear was the water was nearly at the top of the access bridges, so if they went into the water they would be hurt, stuck or drowned.

Feeling rather upset I carried on home, but I could not stop thinking about them.

I could not sleep and, therefore, I set off for Dyers Lane just after 7am hoping they both had some how escaped.

However, as I got near I heard this constant distressed call and saw the mother duck on the pavement looking and calling to her youngster still stranded.

I kept with her trying to decide what to do when the duckling went into the brook, which was still flowing fast though not as bad as the night before.

The poor thing tried to go against the current, but was being taken further away.

I rushed along trying to get the mother to follow me.

After some hesitation she did. She was constantly calling to her youngster.

After what seemed like ages she finally took courage and dived back into the brook.

I had visions of the duckling being swept away under the Aughton Street bridge, having feared the day before this may have already happened if she had had more than one baby.

The duckling then was able to get up a steep bank and mum followed, but it went nowhere, so they jumped back into the brook.

I was getting more and more concerned, but then just before the street bridge the duckling again took the initiative and tried the get onto the larger bank there. Success and mum followed.

They climbed up to Dyers Lane and started walking along the road in the direction they had come in the water.

My concern was then about them being hit by a car, so I followed them and was able to see them safely on the grass near the bungalows.

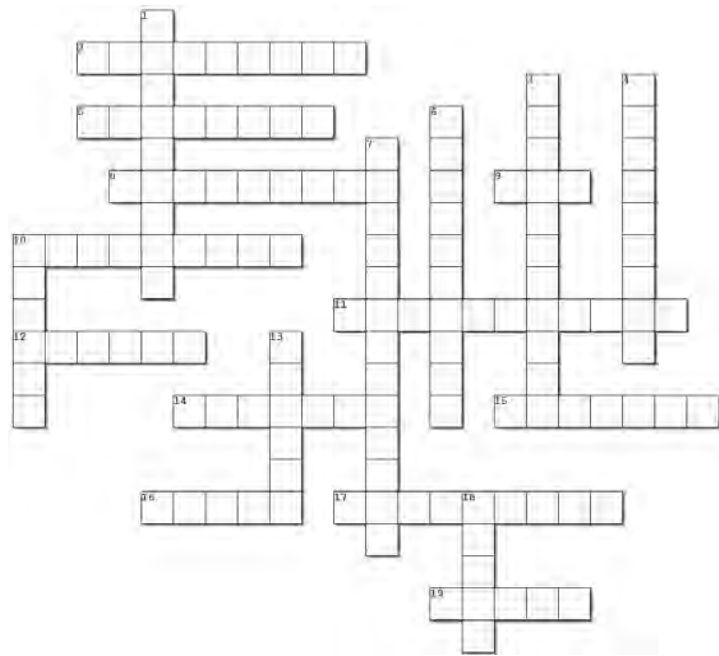

The next day on my walk home I was pleased to see both mum and baby safe in a low gentle flowing brook.

What a relief. I have been told ducks are not good parents and will abandon ducklings, but this mother duck is amazing.

Pod allows safe hugs at care home

STAFF at the High Wray Residential Care Home in Aughton have come up with a new 'pod' to allow their residents to safely hug their families when they come to visit.

A spokesperson for the home on Formby Lane said: "We are so happy to announce the opening of our suspended visiting pod today!"

"Keeping residents and loved ones connected, completely sealed screen with hugging holes!"

"We have laser cut holes into the perspex glass and fitted gloves which are sealed into a steel rim."

"The pod remains completely sealed from each side. We have a fogger to disinfect the pod after each use."

Council spent £1,500 'training Mayor on how to chair a meeting'By Danielle Thompson

COUNCIL chiefs have been accused of frittering away £1,575 on 'training Mayor how to chair a meeting.'

West Lancashire Borough Council have been criticised by the Our West Lancashire (OWL) group for spending the funds on a one-day online training session on chairing council meetings.

They say that it "outrageous" to spend such a sum at the same time as long serving council staff are being made redundant and others face possible short-time working.

OWL group chairman, Cllr Adrian Owens said: "The Mayor is an experienced councillor and a former chairman of Lancashire County Council. He has to chair about six meetings this year."

"It is indefensible to spend £1,575 of council taxpayers' money on a one-day online training course on how to chair meetings."

"An internal refresher course including use of Skype should have been sufficient."

"In any circumstance this largesse could not be justified, but in the current situation it is outrageous."

"The council is still reducing its staff numbers to balance the books with more staff leaving on redundancy this month while leisure centre staff facing an uncertain future and possible shorter hours."

"In the wider community, many residents are fearful for their job security or having to tighten their belts."

"The council needs to ask every time it writes a purchase order – is this spending justified?"

Council chiefs have defended the expenditure saying there five people on the course say there five people on the virtual course and that material provided meant future sessions would be held in-house.

A spokesperson for West Lancashire Borough Council said: "The training provided was held virtually and was attended by five participants (the Mayor, Deputy Mayor and three officers) at a cost of £315 per person."

"The session focused on council meeting procedures, chairing virtual council meetings and managing virtual civic engagements."

"Training materials were provided by the trainer to enable future sessions to be conducted in-house."

Staff next to the school fence where the padlocks are being placed School staff want local children and parents to show them some love!

Report by Tom Martin

TEACHERS from a school in Skelmersdale have come up with a unique way to bring the community together after asking locals to add a 'love padlock' to their fence.

Any current and former staff, pupils or parents of Crow Orchard Primary School have been invited to place a padlock on the fence and post a positive message on the school's social media accounts to explain their connection to the school.

The 'Locks of Love' project is designed to "raise awareness of the love and support" in the local area and to also improve mental health.

Katie Spence, who works at the school, said: "I wanted to do something that could help lift morale and let our children, parents and local community know that, as a school, we very much care about their wellbeing."

"I've seen locks of love before in different destinations around the world on bridges, but have never seen it done at a school."

"We are inviting everyone who has ever been associated with our wonderful school - past and present - to come and lock a padlock to our school fence."

"The padlock can be dated, signed or have a message attached to it."

"We would love to hear your stories and how you have been connected to the school in the past, so are asking for you to take a photograph of yourself attaching your padlock and upload it to our social media pages."

To do this, search for Crow Orchard Primary School on Facebook or Twitter.

Katie added: "We kindly request you avoid uploading photographs with any children in the background who you are not responsible for, due to safeguarding."

WEAR IT PINK

23 October 2020

Breast Cancer Now's wear it pink is back! Taking place on 23 October, during Breast Cancer Awareness Month, wear it pink is one of the UK's biggest fundraising events, and each year sees thousands of people across the UK dress in their finest pink clothes and fundraise for Breast Cancer Now, the research and care charity. Since launching in 2002, the event has raised over £35 million.

It has never been more important to sign up and take part, raise money and support Breast Cancer Now.

Summer Kendrick, wear it pink manager at Breast Cancer Now, the research and care charity, said:

"The coronavirus crisis is having a devastating impact on Breast Cancer Now's ability to deliver the progress and support that so many people affected by breast cancer rely on us for.

"Right now, we don't know what the world will look like, what we'll be able to do or who we'll be able to see, but we do know that breast cancer doesn't stop for anything. People affected by breast cancer, our nurses and scientists urgently need your support, now more than ever before.

"We are so grateful to our incredible supporters who year on year take part in wear it pink with so much enthusiasm and creativity. If there was ever a time to find that pink top, grab that pink tie or dig out that pink tutu, that time is now. Please join us and wear it pink on 23 October to help us continue our vital work for anyone affected by breast cancer."

Balwinder, 56, was diagnosed with breast cancer in 2015 and explains why she will wear pink this October: "I underwent a routine annual medical in August 2015, though nothing had been unusual and I hadn't had any symptoms. Then there was the diagnosis. When I heard those 3 words, 'you have cancer', my world crumbled around me. The shock, devastation, disbelief, butterflies in my stomach, the fear, finding it hard to breathe. A million thoughts spinning around in my head.

"I will always be grateful to the Breast Cancer Now team, who played an important part in my life when I was going through such a traumatic ordeal. I believe it is important to wear it pink on 23 October because it is our opportunity to raise vital funds and awareness, giving back to and helping those in need."

Winning start for Skem in league campaign

Runcorn Town 0
Skelmersdale United 3

AN almost perfect start to the season continued for Skelmersdale United on Saturday, writes John Driscoll, as they followed up their good cup form with a winning start to their league campaign.

Town keeper Adam Reid denied United from striking the opening goal in the 10th minute as he saved chances from both Tom Croughan and Danny Mitchley.

But he was beaten a minute later as Callum Preston's effort took a deflection and sailed past Reid for 1-0.

Town had a chance to draw level on 36 minutes when Ryan Cox picked out Dale Jennings but his shot went past the far post.

United tried their luck with Josh Peet finding Mitchley who hit wide before Ellams drew a low save from Reid. United's threats continued with Reid denying Mitchley but he was soon beaten by the United number nine who connected to Jack Grimshaw's low cross and fired in for 2-0 on 42 minutes. The lead could have been three at the break but as Mike Grogan connected to a free-kick, he headed narrowly over the bar.

The second half began fairly quietly for both sides but United wrapped up the win on 71 minutes, a lovely looping cross from Griffiths flew perfectly for Mitchley who headed past Reid for his second and United's third.

Mitchley could have completed his hat-trick two minutes later but saw a shot cannon off the post, before Grogan also hit the post from close range.

Mitchley continued in pursuit of a hat-trick with Reid denying him on 79 minutes.

Town looked for some consolation and late on went achingly close, clever play from Jennings saw him find substitute Kevin Exell who beat Barnes but saw his joy denied by a superb goal-line clearance by Preston.

The final whistle minutes later saw United complete a superb week on the road and open their league campaign in style ahead of next week's huge FA Cup trip to face Stafford Rangers.

United fans to miss out on cup tie and Linnets games off after player tests positive for Covid SKELMERSDALE United fans will miss out on watching their team in their big FA Cup fourth qualifying round at Stafford Rangers on Saturday for tie due to Lancashire being in Tier 3 guidance that people should not travel out of the county.

A maximum of 600 home fans will be allowed to attend the game at Marston Road.

Skem's scheduled home league fixture against Barnoldswick Town last night (Tuesday) was postponed due to Covid-19 restrictions at the JMO stadium.

They are due to visit Northwich 1874 on Tuesday, October 27 and then Ashton Athletic on Saturday, October 31.

Burscough meanwhile had to postpone their scheduled matches at Congleton last Saturday and Padiham last night after a member of the Linnets' squad tested positive for Covid-19.

The Linnets are due to travel to Avro on Saturday and host Charnock Richard next Tuesday but it is not yet certain that these games will go ahead.

Is this a car - or a bad spell?

The Aznom Palladium is a handbuilt off-road limousine being unveiled in Italy this month

AZNOM PALLADIUM! It sounds like a bad spell that Harry Potter's dreamt up after a hard all-nighter at Hogwarts, but in fact it's the least appropriate car to be launched all year.

It's due to be launched at the Milan open air motor show later this week and is the car that, in a Europe focusing hard on making its new vehicles smaller and kinder to the environment, is exactly the small crossover that you've all been saving up for.

Yep, it's a 20-foot long limousine crossed with an off-roader.

One that just happens to have a 5.7-litre engine, serving up more than 700bhp, with a couple of turbochargers chucked in for good measure.

The small company in Italy that's planning to make it says that its appearance is, erm 'unconventional' and while it's only fair to reserve judgement until the finished article is actually unveiled, all of the teaser shots released so far make it look like someone's described a Volvo 740 over the phone to a drunk graphic design student.

It's also, despite being longer than a Ford Galaxy and taller than a Land Rover Discovery, only designed to carry four people.

The idea is that if you're sufficiently minted enough to slap down an order, it'll be tailor-made, like a sharp Italian suit on wheels, only the tailors in this instance are a team of young designers and engineers who in the past have helped Pagani, McLaren and other supercar makers with some of their projects.

There's no word on price yet, either, but when Aznom put together a customised Dodge Ram pickup truck a couple of years ago, complete with an in-built coffee maker, Xbox console system, a fridge and bespoke crystal bottles designed to carry fine spirits, it asked £203,000 for the privilege.

Just about the only purpose I can think of for a 20-foot long limo that's too big to use off-road and too embarrassing to be seen on it is as a sort of posh mobile home you can lock yourself into should a second national lockdown be announced – it'll be comfy enough to live in, and you'll be able to drive it to your nearest testing centre, up in Aberdeen.

That's a fairly limited market, which is why the planned production run is just about the only thing that Aznom has got right – it's planning to make ten, charge a couple of gullible Instagrammers a small fortune for them, and then immediately crack on with whatever its next project is.

Top tip.

Save yourself £120,000 and buy a Range Rover instead...

BMW's latest developments

THE car firm BMW is developing an estate car version of its M3 for the first time - and has kitted its cars out with tech that can tell if you are entering a city centre emission zone!

The M3 Touring is being honed at the Nürburgring racetrack in Germany, and will use the same turbocharged straight six being used for the new albon and the M4 Coupé, so expect it to channel as much as 480bhp through either a six-speed manual gearbox or BMW's eight-speed 'M-Steptronic' transmission.

The wider M3 range is being officially launched later this month, so expect to hear more about prices and UK specification in the next few weeks.

As well as this, BMW has kitted out its cars with tech that can tell if you're entering a city centre emission zone – and flick the hybrid powerplant into electric-only mode the moment you do.

It's available on any 3-Series, 5-Series, 7-Series and X5 sold in plug-in hybrid form – and if you already own one running BMW's Operating System 7 software, you can download it for free.

Go to www.bmw.co.uk for more information about the full range.

Cupra's el-Born has a new 160 mile fast-charge facility

CUPRA – SEAT's performance spin-off brand – has just launched its first all-electric model.

The el-Born is based around the same basic tech as VW's new ID3 and Audi's Q4 E-

Tron, and will have a 310-mile range, with a fast charge facility that enables you to give it a 160-mile range in just a 30-minute charge. Its 82kwh battery sends all its power to the rear wheels, and Cupra says it will be set up with sharper driving characteristics in mind.

There's no word on prices yet, but expect it go on sale here early next year.
